

Digital Permits &
Licensing Solution
Software as a Service

StarGo is the complete end-to-end software solution for managing highways licences and permits. The system can be fully hosted so that local government can optimise the application, approval, issuing and enforcement of any permit, licence or service.

StarGo can be utilised to apply for any type of licence or permit. For example: street cafés, a-boards, skips, scaffolding, hoarding, temporary traffic regulation orders, section 50's, cranes, bus stop suspensions and many more.

The StarGo customer portal allows members of the public and business owners to create an account and manage multiple licence and permit applications and renewals. Users can track an applications progress, upload supporting documentation, such as insurance documents or traffic management plans and make secure online payments. The portal can be accessed via a smart device such as a phone, tablet or a computer.

The StarGo back office system gives users access to all account and application information. Users can review applications and supporting documents, correspond with applicants or internal teams via the in-built email tool and make an informed decision about whether to approve or reject an application. The back office system also features a comprehensive reporting suite and will be integrated with your existing payment systems. If desired, licence or permit information can be exported into the DfT Street Manager system via API.

The StarGo smartphone application gives Highways Inspectors access to live permit information via an easy to use Google Maps interface. Active and inactive licences and permits are clearly displayed allowing Inspectors to clearly identify businesses operating without a licence or not complying with the terms of a licence. Should they require, FPNs can also be issued via the interface and managed through the StarTraq software.
